COMMERCIAL VALUE OF SERMONS.

A Great Divine of London Makes a Deport and Starts Up a Hornet's Nest.The Rev. Dr. Joseph Parker, pastor of the City Temple, has been expressing high indignation because some newspapers printed extracts from a sermon without his permission. The irate preacher of the gospel of Christ even declared, "The man who reports a sermon without the preacher's permission is a thief." He explains frankly that the preacher may desire to sell the sermon or preach it elsewhere on the next Sunday. "A Dick Turpin of a reporter" has got down to a strictly commercial basis.This strong language provokes many unkind remarks about the gentleman who, since Spurgeon's death, has been considered by many as London's greatest pulpit orator. It really does seem that the soul saving business, like all other things English, has got down to a strictly commercial basis. Some rather awkward extracts from bony writ, including quotations from the lips of the preacher of the sermon on the mount, an authority usually held in quite high respect at the City Temple, have been brought to Dr. Parker's attention this week by the London press. Some, even of the publishers of this gentle follower of Jesus, have been disturbed by his words. Thus one writes to The Times:"Dr. Parker's letter causes me some qualm of conscience. A few weeks back I was able to pour consolation into the heart of an old friend, who was in great mental affliction and bodily weakness, by reciting to him some singularly beautiful sentences I had heard from the City Temple pulpit. I confess it escaped me that I ought to have charged my friend 8s. 6d. for the use of the preacher's balm for wounded souls and transmitted the money to the owner of such mortal medicine. I think Dr. Parker will see that, even in these ungodly times, the public are not yet ready for viewing what they are told is the house of God as a shop and the proclamation of the everlasting gospel as a trafficking in marketable goods. Doubtless Dr. Parker's letter will help the people to see him and his work in the right light."Others put the pertinent inquiry whether Dr. Parker is greater than his Master. It is recalled by the newspaper that in his earlier days he not only welcomed the presence of reporters, but used to beg editors to send them, and when none came he was not above summarizing his sermons himself and sending reports to the newspaper offices. No man, in fact, knows better than Dr. Parker how to utilize the newspaper for gratuitously advertising himself. When a few years ago, he aspired to fill Henry Ward Beecher's pulpit, he took infinite pains to obtain the assistance of all the agencies engaged in the business of cabling news to the American press. —It is supposed that the party had been surprised by winter and had failed to get away from a district which is destined to be very barren. The crew of the Balaena bring home many relics of the unfortunate Eskimos who had evidently died of starvation.Before death the members of the party had been driven to the awful extremity of cannibalism. Some of the bodies were untouched, others were partially eaten, and clean picked bones lay near. One body was decapitated, and the head was found some distance away. The remains were in a comparatively good state of preservation.It is supposed that the party had been surprised by winter and had failed to get away from a district which is destined to be very barren. The crew of the Balaena bring home many relics of the unfortunate Eskimos who had evidently died of starvation.The Metamorphoses of a Bust.English sculptors are not half up to date, perhaps because our fewer political changes have not sharpened their wits. The Parisians are just now laughing at the viscidities of a bust of Louis XIV over the colonnade on the east side of the Louvre. When Perrault erected the colonnade, the bust was an exact likeness of the "Roi Soleil," but under the first empire the official sculptor chipped off the flowing wig and pared the nose down to the Napoleonic proportions. When the Bourbons came back, the wig was replaced and the necessary hump put on the nose, but both were removed during the hundred days. But after Waterloo the people and the aquiline nose were restored, and the troubadour bust had rest, though now that the subject has been raised possibly M. Casimir-Perier may wish to add his mustache to the long suffering work of art. — Building News.Advice from a Flippant Phrenologist.The fall of Caprivi was predicted at least by one observer. This is Mr. Donovan, a phrenologist who had studied the young emperor's head and found it sadly lacking in "concentrative ness." A man with such a head must have changes, and so Mr. Donovan predicted a year ago that Caprivi would speedily go the way of Bismarck. The phrenologist's advice to Prince Hohenlohe is as follows: "In order to keep the emperor out of mischief his love of travel should be encouraged as much as possible. He should go to Chicago next year and then in turn be persuaded to visit Asia, Africa, Australasia and South America. By this means he will let off his desire for change and restlessness in a harmless way." — Westminster Gazette.News in the Ads.At this season of the year advertisements become news matter. In every household there are those who are lookingfor holiday bargains —

A Bank Failure.

AN INVESTIGATION DEMANDED.

A general banking business is done by the human system, because the blood does not in its vaults, whether wealth we may gain from day to day. This wealth is laid up against a "rainy day" as a reserve fund. If we have laid away sufficient capital to do this, we are in the hour of greatest need. There is danger in getting into debt because it's a sign of letting down in health. The blood is nearly always to gain in whole-some flesh. The odds are in favor of the germs of consumption, grip, or pneumonia, or if our flesh is reduced below a normal weight. What is required is an increase in our green fighting strength. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures the blood and makes it whole-some flesh. The waste of tissue and at the same time builds up the strength. A medicine which will rid the blood of its poisons, cleanse and invigorate the great organs of the body, the nervous system, thrill the whole being with new energy, and do great work of it, is surely a remedy

THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

A very unusual message of Governor N. C. Colcord comes to the Journal in a closely printed pamphlet of twenty-eight pages. It deals with every interest of the State and makes suggestions and recommendations on various subjects.

The message says the finances of the State are in that satisfactory condition which an honest, intelligent and economical administration of its resources cannot fail to establish. The State continues to do business on a cash basis and does not owe a dollar aside from its bonded debt to its own school funds. This debt on January 1, 1895, amounted to $150,000, as against $180,000 on January 1, 1891, a reduction of $30,000 during Governor Colcord's administration. Our school funds amount to $1,300,574 26, exclusive of unpaid balances on land contracts. Of this amount $1,300,000 is invested in United States four per cent bonds and Nevada State interest-bearing bonds. appended to this declaration is an abstract of the report of the State Treasurer, which shows that the State debt is $57,628, and the cash in the general fund only $139,191.

If these figures are correct there is less money in the general fund to-day than at the beginning of any legislative year before, since Nevada became a State. By juggling with figures, so as to confuse the public, who pay for compiling and printing the reports, the cash and bonds belonging exclusively to the school fund, are made to appear as belonging to the State fund property.

The Governor says the bonded debt of the State is $150,000, but the appended report of the Treasurer shows it to be $30,000. Such deception is unworthy of a State officer whose duty it is to let the people know the real financial condition of the State.

Regarding the assessment of property for the purposes of taxation the Governor desires to go on record as an advocate of State supervision of the equalization of property valuation. The system has been adopted and is in successful operation in nearly every State in the Union, and he predicts that Nevada will be compelled to adopt it or some other supervisory method whereby the present vicious system of undervaluation and a high rate of taxation can be controlled. A table comparing the work of the State Board of Assessors and Equalization for 1892 with that of the local county boards in 1893, in assessing railroads is given, and it shows that the valuation of the roads by the State Board was $1,548,545 more than by the local boards.

The Australian ballot law, after a trial of two elections, is commended, and several amendments to the election laws of the State are recommended. The Purity of Elections law of California is commended as a brave advance toward more honest methods in conducting elections.

The Governor refers to the defeat of the proposed Constitutional Convention by reason of the Supreme Judges having no authority to canvass the vote and he inclines to the belief that the wholesale rejection of the amendments at the recent election was not due to opposition to Constitutional revision, but due to the fact that correction and remedy by amendment is wholly impracticable.

He directs attention to agriculture and irrigation and to the fact that Nevada has natural advantages even greater than some of the mountain States whose agricultural products now exceed the products of the mines. He estimates the number of live stock in the State at 890,338 head, and their value at $6,539,132. This information is derived from the Department of Agriculture at Washington as the law of Nevada requiring County Assessors to report to the Surveyor General a true tabular statement of the agricultural pursuits and products of their respective counties, is to all intents and purposes a dead letter. It is a clear case of a valuable law rendered inoperative by neglect.

Reference is made to the depression in mining; to the excellence and efficiency of our public schools; to the very satisfactory state of affairs at the State Prison, except that the prisoners have no employment; to the Orphans' Home, which is one of the State institutions which appeals to the sympathies of the entire community; to the State University, which is rapidly advancing in scholarship, as well as in public esteem; to the Asylum for the Insane, which will not suffer in comparison with those of other States; to the State Library; to the State Board of Agriculture; Board of Health, Board of Pardons, State Militia and other institutions and makes some suggestions regarding legislative services, advertising, etc.

The message is quite comprehensive and on some subjects exhaustive. With it the Governor says he severes his official connection with the State and desires to express his hearty and sincere appreciation of the honest endeavors and uniform courtesy on the part of all the officers and attaches connected with the State Government and to thank them for their able support and co-operation during the four years of his administration.

The people of Plano, Ill., and Crown Point, Ind., report seeing three full-sized moons in the west Saturday morning. The weather shortly afterward became warmer, it began snowing, and at intervals sand and dust came down with the snow. The phenomenon has caused much talk, but no one can satisfactorily explain it.

SUICIDE CANCELS INSURANCE.

Benevolent Orders May Protect Themselves.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., January 15.—Judge Ludwig yesterday made an important decision in an insurance case, ruling that a benevolent order has the right to make a rule that suicide by a member cancels his insurance.

Mrs. Theresa Ruggaber brought suit against the Knights of Pythias for $1,000 insurance held by her husband, August Ruggaber, in the endowment rank of the order, when he committed suicide over a year ago. A by-law was passed by the Board of Control subsequent to Ruggaber's becoming a member to the effect that when a man took his own life he relinquished all claims to benefits.

Judge Ludwig held that the society had a right, in his opinion, to pass such a law, but said he would make his decision sweeping in order that the matter should go before the Supreme Court if the plaintiff desired to take it up. Mrs. Ruggaber will appeal.

A Former Resident of Quincy Commits Suicide at the Napa Asylum.

NAPA, January 15.—W. H. Graves, a patient at the insane asylum, committed suicide by hanging Monday. He had fastened a bed-sheet to the grating in the door, tied the other end of the sheet around his neck and thus strangled himself. One of the attendants discovered the body hanging from the door about 5:30. With the help of another attendant, he cut the body down. The night watch had passed by at 5 o'clock, but the body was not there then. When taken down the body was still warm, and resuscitation was tried unsuccessfully. Graves had been always watched, being considered as having homicidal tendencies. He had been heard to say that he would rather die than live in an asylum. Graves was forty-eight years of age, a native of New York and leaves a wife and two children at Quincy, Plumas county. The Coroner's jury exonerated the employees from blame.

State Fruit Exchanges.

SAN FRANCISCO, January 12.—A convention of the authorized and instructed delegates from the local exchanges and the Fruit Association of California was held in the rooms of the State Board of Horticulture, on Sutter street, at 10 o'clock to-day. About 100 of the leading growers and haulers of fruit of the State were in attendance. The convention will be in session the rest of the week.

The objects of the convention are to perfect plans of co-operation of fruit-growers in the marketing of fruit, nuts, raisins, and to secure unanimity of action in the handling of fruit. About seventy exchanges have been organized in various parts of the State, and all of them are made up of the leading growers. Through co-operation the growers have been enabled to place their products on the market with better results than by individual effort. It is to render the plan already projected more perfect that the convention is held.

The Railroad Strikers.

SAN FRANCISCO, January 15.—The Government closed its side in the strike trials against John Cassidy and John Mayne in the United States District Court yesterday afternoon with the testimony of Valentine McClatchy of the Sacramento Bee. Mr. McClatchy corroborated the evidence of C. C. Howell regarding the statements made by Compton to the Citizen's Association concerning the attitude of the A. R. U.

Mr. McClatchy said that the statement of Knox and others was made to him alone, but the defense will introduce a different statement, with allegations that several witnesses were present when it was made. Mr. McClatchy was asked whether he has any bias in favor of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company. He said he was impartial. He admitted riding on a pass and said all editors in the State accepted passes.

The defense will begin on Thursday.

Narrow Escape.

STOCKTON, January 15.—The west-bound train from Ione, on the narrow-gauge road, was wrecked this morning through the rails spreading. Two passenger cars were overturned. Twenty-five passengers were on board, and many were severely bruised. Several were burned by being thrown against the stove, which was overturned. Seats were torn from their fastenings. The train had just passed the bridge. William Ireland, State Mineralogist, received an ugly gash on the head, and the passenger coaches were badly smashed. The freight cars did not leave the track. After the wounded were cared for they were taken to Galt on freight cars.

THE FLOODED MINES.

Heartrending Scenes at the Coal Pits. LONDON, January 15.—Relays of men worked all night for the release of miners entombed in the North Staffordshire colliery by a sudden rush of waters from old workings. One hundred and fifty men and boys were rescued. One hundred and twenty are still in the mine. It is believed that twenty in the lower workings were drowned. It is bitterly cold. Ceaseless pumping does not diminish the water level. The shaft is choked with piles of lumber swept there by the torrents. The timber must be removed before the men can be reached. Wives and daughters are discouraged. There are heart-rending scenes. The rescuers are working in four feet of water. There is danger that the water will undermine the galleries, causing cave-in.

A FIRE ISLAND.

It is Being Described by the Inhabitants.

VICTORIA, B. C., January 15.—The steamer Miouvera brings the information that the eruptions at Ambrym Island, New Hebrides continue intermittently, and that the island is deserted by its inhabitants. The new volcano broke out early in December on mountains two thousand feet high. Lava flowed in immense streams to the sea, devastating villages and farms. Crops have been neglected, and it is feared that many of the natives will starve. The losses to property are immense.

Oil Yield of Pennsylvania.

Oil City, Pa., January 15.—The year of 1894 will place to its credit a total production of 30,000,000 barrels of oil from the Pennsylvania fields. This is three-quarters of a million barrels short of the production of 1893. But while the producer sold his oil at an average price of 64 cents in 1893, the oil he produced in 1894 brought him over $1 a barrel. About 2,000 new wells were drilled in 1893, while 3,900, or nearly double the number, were completed in 1894. The demand for Pennsylvania oil showed no diminution during the year, having aggregated over 36,000,000 barrels in 1893, and a few thousand barrels more in 1894. The reduction in the stocks in the custody of the various pipe lines was over 5,000,000.

The Brooklyn Railway Strike.

BROOKLYN, January 15.—Both sides in the electric street railway strike show a determined front to-day. Cars are guarded by a squad of eight policemen and run at irregular intervals, on some lines. The mail cars also run. The tracks are constantly obstructed by strikers upsetting barrels of ashes. Mounted policemen patrol the streets preventing the strikers from damaging property.

The mail car on the Fifth Avenue was captured by strikers and released by mounted police. There was rioting and many hurt. The steamboat squad has been ordered on strike duty.

Death of a Veteran Journalist.

SAN FRANCISCO, January 15.—J. J. Owens, founder of the San Jose Mercury, died this morning suddenly in this city, the result of paralysis. While ascending stairs he fell backward down the flight, breaking his neck. Mrs. Owens was the first to discover the dead body of her husband. Owens had come to this city under engagement with C. M. Shoubridge, recent purchaser of the Call, to edit the weekly edition of that paper. Owens published the San Jose Mercury from 1861 to 1869, afterwards publishing the San Jose Better Times.

A Workman's Terrible Fall.

SAN FRANCISCO, January 15.—James Bain, who assisted in erecting the immense Fifth Wheel at the Midwinter Fair, was taking the wheel apart to-day when the cross-beam broke. Bain fell to the ground, a distance of sixty feet, and was killed.

Cohen Convicted.

SAN FRANCISCO, January 14.—Louis Cohen, the Baldwin Hotel staffer, accused of falsely swearing regarding his residence, was convicted of perjury by a jury this morning in eight minutes.

Proposed Mint at Denver.

WASHINGTON, January 15.—The Senate Finance Committee authorized a favorable report on Wolcott's bill to establish a coinage mint at Denver.

It Should be in Every Home.

J. B. Wilson, 371 Clay street, Sharpsburg, Pa., says he will not be without Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds; that it cured his wife who was threatened with pneumonia after an attack of la grippe, when various other remedies and several physicians had done her no good. Robert Barber, of Cooksport, Pa., claims Dr. King's New Discovery has done him more good than anything he ever used for lung trouble. Nothing like it. Try it. Free trial bottles at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store. Large bottles, 50 cents and $1.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and adds to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid native principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system of all obstructions, colds, headaches and fevers, and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession because it acts on the kidneys. Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 60c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

ELECTION OF SENATORS

The Montana Legislature has elected Thomas H. Carter for United States Senator for the long term and Lee Mantle for the short term. Mantle was appointed Senator by the Governor two years ago, the Legislature having failed to elect, but the Senate decided, as in the case of the Washington and Wyoming Senators appointed under similar circumstances, that the Governor had no power to appoint when the Legislature failed to elect a United States Senator.

In Colorado the Legislature elected Edward O. Wolcott United States Senator to succeed himself, notwithstanding the petition of the women that they wanted a moral man elected. Wolcott is a millionaire and under such circumstances the protest of the women, if they do vote, is of no avail.

In Nebraska John M. Thurston, attorney of the Union Pacific Railroad Company, was elected United States Senator to succeed Charles F. Manderson, whose term expires on the 4th of March.

In Michigan James McMillan, whose term expires on the 4th of March, was elected to succeed himself, and Representative Burrows was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Stockbridge.

In Idaho there are two Republicans—Shoup and Sweet—and one Populist in the field. Sweet, the present Representative, received more votes in each House than Shoup, one of the present Senators, and W. H. Claggett received the Populist vote. Claggett was formerly of Nevada, and though the sympathies of old Nevadans are with him, the votes of a majority of the Idaho Legislature are against him, and votes count for more than sympathy.

HOODLUMS AND PLUTOCRATS.

A Problem Worthy of Investigation.

The rising generation is the hope of every nation. The rising generation of this nation is a generation of hoodlums. The fact is too appalling to be shamed. The mass of the men of the next thirty years will have no trade, no means of livelihood, no property, no homes, but they will have all known vices, a total disregard of law, and possibly an understanding of the awful power of organized crime. From the past generation have issued three million tramps; the progeny of the next generation promises to be thirty million hoodlums. Reform schools and penal institutions are excellent, but to send a boy to one of them is like attempting to freeze the ocean by dipping it up a teaspoonful at a time. The plutocracy will find their reign brief one if we read the signs of the times aright. The plutocrat made the hoodlum and the hoodlum when grown will eliminate the plutocrat. That is plain to all who care to look into the near future. But the interesting question is what will become of the rest of us? This part of the problem is really worth investigation. —Silver State.

She was an estimable lady and a good Christian woman.

The funeral of Mrs. W. W. Morton will take place from the Baptist Church Thursday, January 17th, at 2 p.m. The services will be conducted by Rev. J. W. Henry of San Francisco.

Electric Bitters Causes a Panic.

The contact of telephone and electric light wires at Gold Hill Monday created consternation in the Fountain House Restaurant of that place. Several persons were severely shocked, among whom were the two Chinese cooks, who furnished considerable amusement by their antics and chatter. The building was set on fire and for a few moments things generally were lively.

Society Surprised.

San Francisco papers tell of an engagement which has surprised society. The intended groom is Winthrop E. Lester of Santa Monica, a nephew of Senator John P. Jones of Nevada. He is to wed Miss Alice Hobart, one of the richest young ladies of the Pacific Coast. It is said that her income exceeds $12,000 a month. Nothing definite has been fixed upon for the date of the wedding, but it will take place probably after Easter, when the brother who is now at Harvard can be present at the ceremony.
